COMPASSION IN ACTION

This Vesak honor the Buddha's great compassion at your temple, monastery, center, or dharma circle with a donation to support the work of Buddhist Global Relief.

- Hold a metta meditation session, a Dharma talk, a "bathing the Buddha" ceremony, or any other activity to raise funds for Buddhist Global Relief.
- Create an opportunity for participants to make a donation to support the work of Buddhist Global Relief.
- Set aside a special donation box for this purpose or allocate a portion of the donations you receive as a gift to Buddhist Global Relief.
- Support us through peer-to-peer fundraising (to learn how go to buddhistglobalrelief.org)

With just a little help, people living at the edge of survival can obtain nutritious food, receive an education, learn livelihood skills, and learn sustainable agricultural methods

Vesak is the day that commemorates three major events in the life of the Buddha: his birth, his enlightenment, and his passing away. The day, which falls in May, is a joyous occasion when we recollect the Buddha's vast kindness in sharing with the world the path that leads to the highest happiness and peace.
